DAILY COURIER. AUGUST 16, 1858.

Reading Matter on every page. Death of Mayor Pilcher. Gen. Wm. S. Pilcher, a prominent citizen and eading politician in our city, died at the residence of Robt. Ayres, in Jefferson county, at 8 o'clock last Saturday night. His destroyer was a fatal disease of the heart, under which he has been sinking for some months past. His death was expected at any moment by himself and his riends, who had despaired of his recovery. Gen. Pilcher was elected Mayor of Louisville in April 1857. His term of office did not expire until April 1859. When the disease which caused his dissolution rendered him incapable of attending to the duties of his office, the City Council appointed Thos. W. Riley, Mayor pro tem. This appointment was made under the following proision of the charter :

vision of the charter:

Art. 4.—Sec. 7.—Should the Mayor be temporily disabled from any cause from discharging the duties of his office, or should the office be vacated from any cause before the expiration of the term of office, the General Council shall upon joint ballot elect a Mayor protem., who shall exercise the powers and discharge the duties of Mayor during the continuance of the Mayor's disability, or until a Mayor has been elected and qualified as herein prescribed. And the General Council shall allow such compensation to the Mayor pro tem. as they deem adequate for his services.

As Mr. Riley was elected by the Council serve during the disability of Mayor Pilcher, an other election will now be held to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gen. Pilcher. The section of the charter we have just quoted, confers the power of holding this election upon the Council. Under it this body have the right to appoint a Mayor pro tem, during the disability of the Mayor elect, and also to appoint a Mayor to fill the va cancy or unexpired term which the death of the Mayor elect has caused.

The death of Mayor Pilcher will cause many re grets in the domestic, the social and the political circle. He has been for years a leading politician, first as a Democrat, and last as an American. He had his friends and his foes, as all men do who en ter the political arena. His faults were polititical only, and they should now be remembered no more His virtues were those of the private citizen, and they should be held in kind recollection. The grave closed over all of him that was mortal, and let the dislike caused by heated party strife be buried with what time destroys. His spirit has gone to the immortal world, and his virtues as a man, a friend, a father, a husband, and a citizen will not be forgotten by those who knew and loved im. His family now have our unalloyed sympa-, by in the deep affliction caused by his death.

The Fine Arts. At first glance, one would naturally think hat the unending vexation which the world at large suffers from politics, wars, etc., yould completely annihilate all of that delicate eeling so necessary to produce and protect the ine arts. Yet, by looking deeper, and instituting ionest comparisons, we find that, notwithstanding our age is more practical than any in the ast, there is still no diminution of the poetical pirit; that, hand in hand with reality, in seemly ellowship, goes poetry, and the two have acquired such affinity that the one is ever lending its trength and the other ever weaving bright and delicate tissues for its companion. To be sure we annot say that our government exhibits even a fair instance of our proposition, and we are obliged o look abroad for a realization of the highest ype of utilitarian art, and the noblest form of art encouragement. In the thoroughly practical, America remains in example unprecedented in the history of the world, and perhaps it is only owing to youth that she does not already wear laurels nobly earned in whose brother interfered, forbade the perform every department of art and literature, which ith more or less justice. In old times it was sserted that only the church could properly foser art. Lately the saving became trite, that the ome of art was under a monarchical form of overnment. It is true that the majority of great forts in art have been subject to the influence of one or the other of these protectors, that doubtess many immortal works would never have exsted, had it not been for church patronage. Yet who shall say that genius, engendered by repubicanism, and nature untrameled in the air of Liberty, could not have produced nobler works; pobler not only as regards art, but as being diested of all dogmas and traditions. Who shall say that there are not as many incidents worthy of representation in the life of a patriot as in the life of a saint. And when the patriot's deeds are great, and a great artist puts them in marble or apon canvas, who shall say when the multitude aze that their emotions are not as lofty as it they sprang from any other source but patriot sm, or independent love of art. That governments are the natural protectors art, is quite certain; not only that they ought to perpetuate the great deeds of their own history, but that they are best capable of affording space for the large canvases or colossal groups required for the proper interpretation of great subjects. Nevertheless, individuals have often usurped gov rnments in encouraging art, and with splendid berality, have placed noble works in a position where they were ever to remain as instructors to the people. Our own government, with all its advantages of youth, freedom, and freshness, has been very tardy. It is only within a short time that she has acknowledged her duties toward her children of genius, and even now, in many in stances, she leaves them to waste their strength while a thousand lofty subjects await pencil and chisel, and while enormous sums of surplus capi tal flits away on the wings of the wind. The Western Argus, an excellent paper ablished at Wyandotte City, Kansas, gives the ollowing reasons for the recent vete in Kansas: THE RESULT-ITS CAUSES. In accordance with universal expectation, th election, on Monday last, resulted in the rejection of the ordinance presented by Congress for the acceptance or rejection of the people of Kansas. Just what the vote may have been will not be known until the Board of Commissioners have performed their work which will probably not b several weeks.

The causes which have conspired to produc The causes which have conspired to produce this result are mainly, as follows:

1st. The officers elected under the Lecompton constitution were chiefly extremists, in whom the people had no confidence, and to whom they were unwilling to confide the destinies of a new State.

2d. The Legislature which was to come into power, had the ordinance been accepted, was chosen when the notorious Lane was at the zenith f his power, and a majority of the members were aderstood to be pledged to his election to the United States Senate.

To these two considerations may be attributed in the main the defeat of this measure. Other considerations of course had their influence. Ma considerations of course had their influence. Many of the people were of the opinion that we ought to remain a territory until we were better able, pecuniarily, to assume the expense of a State government. Others again desire the guardianship and protection of the federal government, believing property and life insecure should the government officers and troops be withdrawn.—Pro-slavery men very generally voted against it, because they preferred to remain a slave Territory rather than become a free State, while many Democrats voted against it for the sake of retaining Gov. Denver, and the other federal appointees, in office, as their places would, on the adoption of the ordinance, have passed into the hands of the ultra Republicans.

Know Nothing Technicalities.

The same technical enforcement of the elector a laws, by which the Know Nothing judges in Louisville sought to defeat the popular will in the selection of a jailer, by issuing the certificate of election to Thomas instead of to Batman, would secure all the city offices in Lexington to the Democratic candidates. There was but one precinct in Fayette country in which the election was legally conducted, and it so happens in that (the 7th district, city of Lexington) the Democratic candidates for city judge, clerk of the city court, and city marshal, received a majority of votes.—Hence, if the polls of the remaining precincts be rejected as illegal, for which there is quite as much, and more, reason than for the rejection of the unsigned pages of the Louisville poll books, Thomas, Wood, and Foushee will be left with a clear majority over their competitors.

We are gratified to know, however, that there is not a Democrat on our ticket who would hold an office so obtained. Not one of them would have an office in the face of a majority of the voters of the city, nor one who would, to promote his own personal interests, attempt to disfranchise a large body of his fellow citizens. The people have spoken, and it becomes Democrats to submit like men, and not resort to trickery and knavary to personal interests, attempt to distranchise a large body of his fellow citizens. The people have spoken, and it becomes Democrats to submit like men, and not resort to trickery and knavery to obtain office. It is the part of Know Nothingism to gain its triumphs by violence, fraud, and quib-bles. Like the drowning man, the prostrate fac-tion grapps at every straw which floats by. Their

The steamer Commodore, registered as the Brother Jonathan, an old tub, which has long been styled "the floating coffin," had a very narrow escape, on the 13th inst., from swamping. She had started from here, on the Sth, with 380 adventurers, for Frazer river, and on the fifth day out encountered a stiff head wind. Now it so happened that she had been filled with merchandise, which that she had been filled with merchandise, which that she had been filled with merchandise, which was stowed in a very improper manner—200 tuns of it being on deck—and the bad stowage, combined with the unseaworthiness of the vessel, caused her to be unable to meet a breeze, against which a good sailing ship would have safely gone with double-reefed topsails. The Commodore soon began to leak and creak, and then it was found that all the pumps were out of order, and there was no ship carpenter, or tools belonging to there was no ship carpenter, or tools belonging to the vessel, on board. Fortunately many of the pas-sengers had carpenters' tools, and knew how to use them. After throwing 600 tuns of merchandise overboard, including fourteen horses, which were first shot, the passengers knocked the heads out of some liquor tierces, spilled the precious con-tents, and rigged the casks to the rigging, to bail out the water in the hold. While these tierces were kept in constant operation at the hatchways, by organized gangs of men, other parties worked ith buckets; and after 30 hours, during which the vessel was in constant danger of swamping, she arrived at this port, for which she had turned as soon as the danger became great. There was one period of six hours during which nearly every one on board supposed the vessel must certainly sink in a few minutes; but most of the passengers behaved very coursecusive, there every clip. behaved very courageously; others cowardly. rvers. After the arrival of the vessel in port the dangers of the passengers ceased and those of the ship-owner commenced. The passengers caught him upon the wharf, and he narrowly escaped hanging. The police managed to get him into his office, and there he was besieged by three hundred men, most of them armed and desperate. Capt. Wright, the owner, finally returned the passage-money, and order reigned again.

I think her petition for a divorce will be denied.—It is said that her husband is not habitually drunk, though he drinks a great deal, and his conduct is hardly so cruel as to justify a divorce. The Attack on the Chinese Forts-Thrilling Account by an American.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, riting from China, gives a thrilling account of the capture of the Pecho Forts by the English and French. After stating that the English steamer Cormorant, Capt. Saumarez, was ordered to open the battle, the writer proceeds: As soon as the Cormorant steamed up against

As soon as the Cormorant steamed up against the hawser, it parted like a length of packthread, and gave the signal of battle to the forts. Their earthen sides at once belched forth iron and flame, tearing the water in scores of places and hulling the advancing steamer upon her port side. "Flat down at your guns," cried the intrepid Saumarez. And at the command every man cast himself flat upon the steamer's deck, and allowed the iron shower to pass on its way. He himself the iron shower to pass on its way. He, himself, however, strode impatiently the elevated poop like the brave man he is, directed the men at the ins, examined the forts through his glass, and so walked along the forecastle. The iron show-was succeeded by a second and a third—finally the discharge was almost continuous. Still the steamer moved steadily ahead, dark, silent, mutilated—but threatening as a sleeping volcano. At length we see her arrive abreast of the fifth fort, and at the same instant we notice a signal fluttering from the mast-head of the gunboat of the two admirals. It is the "marting of the haw. he two admirals. It is the "parting of the haw-er" of the allies; the emblem of war, the longed-or signal for the bursting of the volcano. Sucessive and dense volums of smoke now burst from cessive and dense volums of smoke now burst from the sides of the arrested steamer, envelope her in a surging cloud, and hide from view the furious working of the guns which succeed. The rapid and heavy discharges, preceded by lurid flashes of flame and followed by clouds of dust and signs of disorder in the fort, tell plainly enough, hower, of the work of death that is under way The bombardment is now general, and has lasted or an hour or more. Still, the Chinese hang ravely by their guns, urged to courage by their nandarins, who, strange to say, are not, in this case, the first to run. Some maneuver must therefore be resorted to, for many of the steamers have een badly hulled, and many valuable lives al-eady lost. There it goes! Another fluttering ignal from the gun-boat of the admiral. That sigeady lost. There it goes! Another fluttering ignal from the gun-boat of the admiral. That sig-al means: "Away there, stormers, and scale the quickly is it obeyed. A hundred boats are ddenly urged towards the river's sides, and ghteen hundred men leap in the mud and clamer up the broken banks. Then, with levelled bayonets and heavy tramp, they press forward their solid masses upon, into, through the yawn-ing embrasures. The foe can stand no longr. Even the Mantchoo Tartar shrinks befor uch a threatening front of advancing steel, and eserts his guns for a tumultuous flight. So lon the allies were in the middle of the river he their bristling front—being naturally a ticklish man—betakes up a hurried flight. The writer adds, that on the very day of the lattle, Mr. Reed, the American Minister, was to ave gone on shore to have signed a treaty which the ranted us everything we have asked for, and which had all been arranged previously. Thus we may say that "the battle of Pi-Ho" has resulted in any-thing but benefit to us.

Dear Little Vic. Your line of this date is be fore me. I am delighted to hear of your good health and hope it may be continued. Saving an attack and office scales.

attack of office seekers, I am tolerably well. thank you. Your desire to peep into my vessels I attributed to woman's curiosity, and have not thought of the matter since. Your amiable desire for peace does credit to your sex, and finds a responsive chord in my own bosom. I hope that you and I may never quarrel. I have all my life endeavored to avoid collision with women. By acting entirely on the defensive, I have thus far, thanks to a beneficent Providence, been successful I can stand anything but being searched.—That can't be did. [For the Louisville Courier.] LOUISVILLE, Aug. 14, 1858.

Editors Louisville Courier: - Upon my return ome yesterday, after an absence of some ten days, my attention was called to a controversy in regard to the disturbances during the election at the First Ward polls. I deem it necessary under the circumstances, to make the following state ment of facts in regard to the matter:

I was at the First Ward polls about four o'clock in the afternoon. There was a crowd around the door, and a disturbance or fight occurred. Mr. Tompkins was near the center of the crowd. I heard from Mr. Timmins that there was an old man who was being whipped. I did not see the man in the crowd, and did not see Mr. Tompkins draw a pistol. Mr. Timmins informed me at the time he had done so, but I did not see it personally. The crowd was so dense and excited that I could not see the occurrences, as I was standing about fifteen feet from the center of the crowd. I have known Mr. Timmins control to the crowd. have known Mr. Timmins some twenty years. He bears the character of a respectable citizen and of a man of truth and integrity.

Respectfully, SAM. K. RICHARDSON.

From Utah.

The New York Times, of Friday, says:

The letters of our correspondents in Great Salt Lake City, and at the camp of the Army in Cedar Valley, bring news from Utah one week later than previous advices. Our latest dates are to the 17th of July, at which time the city had resumed its wonted aspect, nearly all the refugees having rereturned to their homes and the pursuit of their avocations. An investigation of the condition of the Territorial Library had confirmed the suspicion that the Mormon leaders falsified when they declared that the books remained undisturbed. A large portion of the law books, formerly contained in the Library, have disappeared. The Mormons preserved the semblance of peace at last advices, but their hatred of the Gentile irruption was manifested in various unpleasant ways. The latest accounts from the army indicate that the forces are in good condition, enjoying comfortable quarters. The New York Times, of Friday, says: in good condition, enjoying comfortable quarter

A Little Boy Drowned. A Little Boy Drowned.

WEST POINT, Ky., Aug. 14.

Editors Louisville Courier. On day before yesterday, a little son of J. G. Guthrie, of this place, was drowned in the Ohio, about one mile above this place. He had gone in with two other boys to bathe, and being unable to swim, had got a log and floated out some thirty or forty feet into the river, when he discovered a steamboat and became alarmed. He made some effort to reach the shore with the log, but became frightened, so that he jumped off into the water and drowned. The most diligent search has been made for his body, but up to this time it has not been recovered.

MADAME BLANCHE: I hasten to let you know the success of the numbers you sent to me on my little son's age. On one of the numbers I have not drawn anything as yet; but on the other, in the last drawing of Swan's Lottery, I drew $40,000. I cannot say that I was in poverty, and you raised me from that; yet I was very much embarrassed. The $40,000 has set me clear of all debt—the first time I have been clear of debt in twenty years; and to you I owe it all. You may use ty years; and to you I owe it all. PEWEE VALLEY RESIDENCE! 2.005 05

PEWRE VALLEY RESIDENCE:
Farm or Grehard Grounds for sale in Pewee Valley.

Wishing to concentrate my attention upon either fruit-culture or farming, separately, I am induced to offer for sale either my orchards or my farm, in Pewee Valley. The orchard grouns's consist of 25 to 30 acres, close to the railroad station, emorating the best valleties of all the fruits successfully cultivated in this region—Apples, Peaches, Pears, draps, Raspberries, Strawberries, &c. Upon these grounds there is a fine sugar-tree grove, and a small unmished cottage. The farm consists of 110 acres, lying within thirty minutes' ride of the station, about one-had of which is in meadow and passure. It is good upland, rolling, healthy and picture que, supplied with the purest water from three unfailing springs, and a natural fish pond of considerable extent. It has an apple and peach orchard now in full bearing, with a sufficient supply of pears, plums, strawberries and currants. The buildings consists of a plain but comfortable farm house of seven rooms, with smoke house, stables, cribs, and other old-fashioned out buildings. Terms easy. A general description of the place, with price, can be had of Mr. Haldeman, at the office of the houisville Courier. I will need any gentleman who may desire to visit the previous day by note addressed to Pewee Valley Postoffice.

Washington, Aug. 11.—General Jerez, the special representative of Nicaragua, with his suite, is expected in this city to-morrow morning from Bedford Springs, where he has been to have an interview with the President in relation to the affairs of his country The policy of the Administration in reference to the Nicaragua Transit has been thoroughly and definitely settled. Without undertaking to define the peculiar interests of our citizens, they are de-termined to require and enforce the opening of the route, and fully to protect whoever may be the legal claimants under the Nicaraguan Government. General Jerez' mission will turn out an utter failare, as the Administration will in no event permi the Nicaraguan Government any longer to trade and traffic on the Transit question. About one-third of the Ten Million Loan has already been deposited in the Treasury, together with the premium, and it is confidently expected that by the 1st of Sestember the entire amount will be paid in. An extension of time could have been obtained by the bidders, but, as the interest will not commence until the deposits are made, there are few likely to avail themselves of the

A STORM.—Yesterday afternoon a rain storm o A STORM.—Yesterday afternoon a rain storm of unusual violence discharged itself over the city. For an hour or two the streets were entirely flooded, and to a greater depth than we ever knew them to be before in so short a time. The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning of the most terrific character, but we have heard of no damage done thereby. Considering the severity and continuance of the rain in the city, it is somewhat singular that twenty-five miles below the city not a drop fell.—N. O. Pic., Tuesday.

DR. GUENTZ'S SELECT SCHOOL FOR A LIMITED NUMBER OF PUPILS.

On Wednesday, the first day of September, the undersigned will open a school next door to his residence, on the south side of Broadway, between First and Brook streets. Not more than twenty pupils will be admitted. Dr. Guentz will devote his uchole time and his undivided attention to their tuition and management.

his undivided attention to their tuition and management.

Instruction will be given in all branches belonging to a complete English education, as well as in the Mathematics, the Classics, the Modern Languages and the Sciences. There is ample room for gymnastic and other out-door exercise near the school house.

It is deemed unnecessary to assure this community that the instruction will be thorough and the discipline strict, but at the same time kind and mild in its application. Since the success of the "Select English and Classical Institute," which Dr. Gucatz had in this city from 1848 to 1852, has established facts that speak for themselves, it may therefore suffice to state that his present school will be organized on the same principles and conducted on the same plan as his former one.

TERMS—Per session of twenty three weeks, $50 00. No extras whatever.

Early application will be duly appreciated.

THE RIVER is slowly and surely receding to a low stage, with some four feet water in the canal last evening by the mark. This makes scant five last evening by the mark. This makes scant five feet for steamboats, which is about the channel depth below the falls on the shoalest bars. During the past 48 hours the river had receded three inches at the head of the falls, which is 8 inches at Portland. The weather yesterday morning was rather pleasant, as compared with the interminable heat which had prevailed throughout the week, though still too warm for comfort or health. A change with rain is very desirable.

The Alice—For Galveston, Texas.—Saturday, the Alice, a new and light propeller, arrived at the Alice, a new and light propeller, arrived at the wharf, on her way to Texas direct, in charge of Capt. J. E. Wilson. She is a small, staunch raft, drawing but 18 or 20 inches water, and can craft, drawing but 18 or 20 inches water, and can not possibly be delayed by sand bars. The Alice is owned by Capt. Wilson, a very clever gentleman, who built her expressly for the accommodation of planters and citizens at Brazoria and Galveston, Texas, to carry back and forth the products of the plantations and the supplies for the planters. A good deal of sugar is grown in that region, as well as cotton and corn, and the little Alice will have plenty to do.

Alice will have plenty to do.

The Alice starts South to-day at noon, from the city wharf, offering a good chance to passengers and shippers to Texas, as she goes through direct, and will take a limited freight. Capt. Wilson will also take New Orleans freight, with the privilege of re-shipping at Plaquemine, as the Alice goes down Bayou Plaquemine, which, of course, cuts off New Orleans. ce will have plenty to do.

cuts off New Orleans.

The Mississippi is falling at all points, from the upper rapids to New Orleans, and though the fall at the latter point is estimated only by inches, at Natchez it had receded altogether, from its greatest altitude, about three feet.

At points farther up the river the fall has been iter, the deposits in many inundated districts being sufficient to make swamp lands available for cultivation, and richly re-paying the owners for their losses and troubles by the flood. At Pittsburgh the water is very low—too low for navigation, while at Marietta there were less than three feet water Saturday.

By dispatches from Parkersburg Friday eveing it appears that no boats had passed that point, either up or down, that day. At Blennerhassett here were but three feet water. The Harmonia, the last arrival from Pittsburgh, met the Commerce at Brown's Island, Orb laid up at Wheeling; Venengo at Goose Island; Indian at Paddy's Run; the Umpire No. 3 aground at Newberry. She was trying to spar over the bar,

To the Stockholders of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of Texas.

A GENERAL meeting of Stockholders will be held in Louisville, Kentacky, on the 24th day of August next. Business of great importance will be brought before the meeting demanding the attention of all interested. The enterprise promises all that has been claimed for it by its most enthusiastic and extravagant advocates; its past management has been marked by errors of the grossest character, but it may yet, by wise counsels and good management, in future be made to meet the largest expectations of its friends. This is "the shortest, best, and cheapest route" connected by railway of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The press throughout the sountry will render this enterprise and way of the Atlantic and Facility Cockers. The press throughout this country will render this enterprise and the scattered stockholders over twenty-six States of the have been abandoned as incurable.

Dr. J. WILLIAMS, Chemist and Pharmaceutist, after shadying closely the practice of Drs. Abernethy and J.
Johnson, England, and observing the nature of the disease in all its stages, during a sojourn in the southern and western portion of the United States, where it prevalis to a greater extent than elsewhere, procured from South Amédica, certain roots and herbs, from which he prepared an 'Elixir,' which, after eighten years' use in private practice, has proved liself more efficacious in the curr of Dyspepsia, than any medicine that has ever been prepared in any age or any clime, for the same purpose.
Having submitted it, with an expianation of its components, to a number of Physicians of Philadelphia, ameng whom were the late Drs. Joseph Hartshorne and J. C.
Morton, it has received their entire approval, and many of the Medical Faculty are not only prescribing it for their patients, but are using it themselves personally, and in their families. As a tonic, it is unequalled, and its properties are of so invigorating a nature, that it is given with perfect safety and success to the most tender infants.

The 'Elixir' is every gradual, but certain in its action upon the organs of digestion, the increased secretions of the liver, pancreas and mucous memirane of the stomach, and requires that only one dose betaken in twentyfour hours; for confirmed Dyspepsia can only be cured by gradually restoring the organs of digestion to a

Testimony of H. N. Sperry, who was abandoned so incurable and given up to dise.

DR. J. WILLIAMS—Dear Sir: For lifteen years previous to 1854, I suffered so much from Dyspepsia, that I became completely prostrated, both in mind and body, and at length became so weakened I could not attend to my business, and was sinking into a decline, and it was believed I never could recover; the best medical aid was procured for me, and every means resorted to without any relief, till I was advised to use your "Elixir," and from the time I began taking it I gradually improved, till I was completely prostrated, both in mind and body, and at length became so weakened I could not attend to my business, and was sinking into a decline, and it was procured for me, and every means resorted to without any relief, till I was advised to use your "Elixir," a

The "Elixir" is sold in bottles at $1.00 each, or 6 bottles for $5.00. Also, Dr. Williams' "Cinchomara," for the positive cure of Ague, Chills and Fever, &c.
